National Energy Regulator of South Africa (NERSA) Public Hearings

Pretoria, 15 January 2013 – The National Energy Regulator of South African will be holding public hearings on the current Eskom application for electricity tariff increases. These public hearings provide a platform for the public to make their inputs on Eskom’s proposed tariff hike.

The Department of Energy encourages all sectors of the South African economy to participate in these public hearings to ensure that NERSA considers all the views as it independently considers the application by Eskom.

We believe that there should be understandings of the tariff application content by all affected stakeholders in order to provide constructive inputs at these public hearings. These public hearings are scheduled as follows;
